

Dear Valued Partner,

I hope this note finds you, your loved ones and colleagues healthy.

At Kellogg, we're also working to ensure the wellbeing of our colleagues and our communities. We're a company with a heart and soul, and this has never been more apparent than now, as we work together to help our food bank partners and neighbors in need during the coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic.

In every region, our food bank partners are stretched to their limits. They're providing more food to more people, and they're doing so without their strong network of volunteers. They need us now more than ever.

That's why, Kellogg and its charitable funds have donated $5 million in food and funds to global COVID-19 food relief efforts.

These contributions to our Kellogg's® Better Days partners support our communities worldwide, including areas with school closures where kids rely on breakfast clubs and school meals. For example:

- Globally, we've donated to the Global FoodBanking Network, supporting food banks across Europe, Asia and Latin America;
- In the U.S., we've donated to Feeding America;
- Across Europe, we're making incremental food and cash donations to food banks;
- In Canada, we're supporting Food Banks Canada and Breakfast Club of Canada;
- And in Asia, we've provided food donations to food banks across the region.

We are also focused on taking care of our Kellogg's Away From Home (KAFH) customer community. We know our customers are among the most vulnerable during this time. Like our neighbors in need around the world, our KAFH community needs us more than ever.

In addition to our corporate contributions, KAFH is providing additional support to the following organizations that are on the front line of the crisis:

- No Kid Hungry. No Kid Hungry will be making emergency grants to support local efforts like home delivered meals, pop-up meals programs, school and community pantries, backpack programs, and others to help reach children and families who lose access to meals.
- United Way of Metro Chicago. Our local partners at United Way of Metro Chicago and the Chicago Community Trust launched the Chicago Community COVID-19 Response Fund. This fund will help provide flexible resources to community-based organizations in Cook and DuPage counties that supply essential support to the households whose incomes are most impacted by coronavirus.
- Northern Illinois Food Bank. Our donation will help support the Food Bank's operations during this time of increased need.

Thank you for all you are doing during these challenging times.

President, Kellogg's Away From Home
